

Dear colleagues,

Welcome to the November AAUT newsletter. I would like to acknowledge the invaluable efforts of our 138 dedicated volunteer assessors who are currently evaluating 141 nominations across all award categories. They will later collaborate within their designated teams to reach a consensus on their assessments before submitting their recommendations to the Award Committees.

I also would like to thank Professor Pip Pattison for presenting at our Assessors' Briefing Session. We had 79 dedicated assessors attend the session. It was well received with participants appreciating her insights from the years of experience as 2021 to 2022 Chair of the AAUT Teaching Awards Committee

A happy snap from Prof Pip Pattison's Assessor Briefing Session!

I remind Vice-Chancellors (VCs) that the portal for submitting recommendations for the Career Teaching Award is now open. This award recognises outstanding and influential academics who have more than 25 years' service in the higher education sector. All VCs should have received the nomination form at the end of October - please contact the Awards Team if you haven't seen the email.

Finally, on behalf of the entire Awards Team, the Award Committee members, ICOs and assessors and previous award recipients, I would like to thank Catriona Jackson the Chief Executive of Universities Australia, as she has recently announced her resignation. Catriona has supported the AAUT as a fundamental program to recognise and reward dedicated educators across Australia. We appreciate all of her efforts and commitment to advancing excellence in higher education, and we wish her all the best with the exciting opportunities ahead.

Regards,
Professor Angela Carbone
