

AAUT CAREER ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Since 2020, Universities Australia has reinstated the Career Achievement Award. This award recognises an individual who has:

- made an outstanding contribution to learning and teaching;
- been recognised for their impact on the higher education sector;
- achievements of major influence and left an enduring legacy; and
- served in higher education for at least 25 years.

Vice-Chancellors will be requested to nominate one individual who meets the above criteria. They will require the following for the nomination:

- Nominee's details
- Curriculum Vitae
- List of nominee's recognition, achievements, contributions and impact to higher education (up to 500 words)

PAST AWARD RECIPIENTS

2023

EMERITUS PROFESSOR DENISE CHALMERS

Emeritus Professor Denise Chalmers is an outstanding leader in learning and teaching renowned for her scholarship, collegiality, contributions to professional associations and passionate commitment to mentoring the next generation of learning and teaching leaders nationally and internationally for nearly 30 years.

2022

ALFRED DEAKIN PROFESSOR DAVID BOUD

Alfred Deakin Professor David Boud is an internationally renowned educational researcher whose contribution over the last 40 years has shaped the practice of higher education globally. Through pioneering research and development, he has led and guided practical application of his work in assessment reform across the Australian higher education sector.

2021

ADJUNCT PROFESSOR JOHN BIGGS AM

Professor John Biggs AM has had a profound impact on approaches to the design of curriculum, assessment and learning in higher education in Australia and overseas. His development of the SOLO taxonomy and his articulation of the constructive alignment model, have shaped the practice of an entire generation of tertiary educators.

2020

VALE PROFESSOR TRACEY BRETAG

Professor Tracey Bretag was a passionate leader in the field of academic integrity research, and throughout her career she worked assiduously to expand the field nationally and internationally, and to translate her own research into practical outcomes. Her work identified the extent of problems such as contract cheating and tackled them head-on.